

2007 CFP Pillar of Pharmacy Award Winner

Raymond “Ray” Joubert Biography

The Canadian Foundation for Pharmacy proudly honours Ray Joubert as a Pillar of Pharmacy for 2007, which is quite fitting given that it's a year in which he celebrates two other significant milestones. In 2007 Ray was selected as one of the Canadian Pharmacists Association's (CPhA) 100 Centennial Pharmacists, recognized for his contribution to pharmacy and Canadian society through his leadership and the positive profile he has brought to the profession. This year also marks Ray's 30th anniversary with the Saskatchewan College of Pharmacists - SCP (formerly the Saskatchewan Pharmaceutical Association - SPhA).

Ray has defined the role of Registrar-Treasurer with the SCP through his kindness, generosity of spirit and integrity; these traits have also won him friends from coast to coast to coast. He has nobly served the pharmacy profession through his participation as a director, chair, and member of provincial and national organizations within the profession; he has also lent his experience and knowledge of regulatory affairs to other health professions. And since 1985, he has helped influence and shape the career success of future generations of pharmacists at the University of Saskatchewan. As guest lecturer he shares his extensive knowledge and experience ... always challenges the students with his unique brand of ethical, legal and moral questions.

It is now time to thank Ray for his years of loyalty to the pharmacists of Saskatchewan and Canada. Joining us tonight are his wife Shelley, son Mark and his wife Kirsten, daughter Michelle and her fiancé Tyler.
